

Hideaki Shibata

Agronomist

Chief Researcher, Shozu Olive Research Institute - Kagawa Pref. Government Agricultural Research Institute.

Mr. Hideaki Shibata is a chief researcher studied olive cultivation and cultivar.

The Shozu Olive Research Institute, which is the only governmental institute to specialized in olive study in Japan, was established by Kagawa Prefecture Government.

Mr. Shibata contributed to promote the quality of Shodoshima domestic produced olive oil and introduced Spanish panelist for the education of producers.

He organized and leaded the panel of domestic olive oil competition.

Co-Author, Following Olive Footprints (Olea europaea L.), (ISHS) 2012, Japan chapter

Member of the Olive Culture Working Group of International Society for Horticultural Science (ISHS)

BA, Kagawa University